

Conflict and Health Series

Iraq – Rebuilding a Nation’s Health

Thursday, March 22, 2007, 1-5PM

Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health: Sommer Hall

---

1:00-1:10	Welcome/Introduction Robert Lawrence, MD, Johns Hopkins School of Public Health Gilbert Burnham, MD, PhD, Johns Hopkins School of Public Health Jeff Helsing, Deputy Director of Education, United States Institute of Peace
1:10-2:40	Voices From the Region His Excellency Ambassador Feisal Al-Istrabadi, Iraq Deputy Permanent Member to the United Nations HRH Prince Zeid Ra’ad Zeid Al-Husseini, Jordan Ambassador to the United States Moderator: Robert Lawrence, MD, Johns Hopkins School of Public Health
2:40-3:00	Break
3:00-4:00	Analysis, Causes, and Impacts of Conflict Sarmad S Khunda, MD, Dean, University of Baghdad School of Medicine Via telephone link from the Middle East Commander David Tarantino, Director, Medical Stability Operations & International Health Affairs, Office of the Secretary of Defense Moderator: Jeff Helsing, United States Institute of Peace
4:00-4:05	Break
4:05-5:00	Improving Health Services Dr. A. Hadi Khalili, MD, Former Head, Iraqi Board of Neurosurgery Abdulla Salem, MD, JHSPH MPH Candidate Moderator: Gilbert Burnham, MD, PhD, Johns Hopkins School of Public Health
5:00	Reception

---

The Task Force on Public Health and Conflict is sponsored by the United States Institute of Peace and the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health

