

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Vicky Bailey

VICKY A. BAILEY brings over twenty years of high level, national and international, corporate executive and governmental experience in energy and regulated industries. Bailey has worked as a public utility corporate executive, as an international official for the US Department of Energy, an entrepreneur and principal of BHMM Energy Services LLC, president of the Anderson Stratton International, and as president and board member of PSI Energy, Inc., Indiana's largest electric utility and subsidiary of the holding company Cinergy Corp., now Duke Energy.

Bailey has served governmental presidential appointments by President George W. Bush as the Assistant Secretary for Policy and International Affairs (2001-2004) of the U.S. Department of Energy and by President William J. Clinton to the office of Commissioner (1993-2000) on the U.S. Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). Most recently, Ms. Bailey was appointed by Secretary of Energy Steven Chu to the Blue Ribbon Commission on America's Nuclear Future, and elected to the North American Electric Reliability Corporation's Board of Trustees.

Ms. Bailey's corporate activities include directorships on the boards of EQT, Inc., Cheniere Energy, Inc., and Battelle Memorial Institute. She is a former director of Scottish Power PLC, in the UK and a current board member for Resources for the Future and the United States Energy Association.

Ms. Bailey is a graduate of the Purdue University's Krannert School of Management having obtained a Bachelor of Science in Industrial Management and recently a Distinguished Alumni Award.

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Dr. Graciana del Castillo

DR. GRACIANA DEL CASTILLO is an economic expert on countries in crises, including those affected by conflict, natural disasters or financial collapse. She is a co-founding partner of MAG (Macroeconomic Advisory Group), an advisor to financial companies and foreign affairs institutions, and a member of task forces for the promotion of peace.

With a Ph.D. in Economics from Columbia University (1986), she was Adjunct/Visiting Professor there in 1990-2007, Associate Director of the Center on Capitalism and Society (2008-09) and Senior Research Scholar (2008-10). She is currently working with Jeffrey Sachs at Columbia University and with M. Ishaq Nadiri at New York University on preparing and promoting an integrated rural development project in Afghanistan.

She designed the arms-for-land program for El Salvador, which has been credited for bringing the peace process back on track in September 1992 after the incipient process was close to collapse. She was also involved in the design of policies for jumpstarting the Kosovo economy, after production and the banking and payments system had collapsed following the war and NATO bombardment in 1999.

Oxford University Press published her book on Rebuilding War-Torn States: The Challenge of Post- Conflict Reconstruction in late 2008. Her articles have appeared in top economic and political journals and over 60 newspapers worldwide.

LTG (RET.) DANIEL W. CHRISTMAN, is the Senior Counselor to the president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and is responsible for advising the Chamber's senior leadership on national security and international issues affecting the business community. LTG Christman served as Senior Vice President for International Affairs at the Chamber, two years as assistant to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and is a former military officer who retired from active duty in 2001, served for five years as the superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point.

LTG Daniel Christman

LTG Christman represented the United States as a member of NATO's Military Committee in Brussels, Belgium, has written and lectured extensively on leadership and national defense, served as a military analyst for CNN International during Operation Iraqi Freedom and continues to appear on CNN, as well as ABC, Fox, MSNBC, CNBC, and C-SPAN to discuss defense and national security issues.

Graduating first in his class from West Point, LTG Christman also received MPA and MSE degrees in public affairs and civil engineering from Princeton University and graduated with honors from The George Washington University Law School. He is a decorated combat veteran of Southeast Asia, where he commanded a company in the 101st Airborne Division in 1969. On four occasions, LTG Christman has been awarded the Army and Defense Distinguished Service Medal, which is the Defense Department's highest peacetime award. LTG Christman and his wife, Susan, live in Alexandria, Virginia. They have two daughters and two grandchildren.

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Andrew Cunningham

ANDREW CUNNINGHAM writes and consults on the Middle East Shari'ah-compliant and international finance. Cunningham began his career as a journalist, writing about Middle East banking and finance for Middle East Economic Digest (MEED) and the Middle East Economic Survey (MEES). He then spent nine years with Moody's, the international rating agency, both as a credit analyst, assigning ratings to Middle Eastern and large European banks, and as the European manager of its Rating Assessment Service and a member of the firm's Liquidity Risk Assessment committee.

In 2004 Cunningham established the Egyptian and broader regional operations of the Financial Services Volunteer Corps (FSVC), consulted for the Central Bank on international financial regulations; and is completing a work plan for the creation of a stock market for the Yemeni Ministry of Finance. Cunningham served as a consultant to the Technical Committee of the Kuala-Lumpur-based Islamic Financial Services Board (IFSB), wrote the guidance note, "Recognition of Ratings by External Credit Assessment Institutions on Shari'ah-Compliant Financial Instruments," (March 2008), and he is currently writing a similar Guidance Note for the IFSB related to the rating of Takaful (Shari'ah-compliant insurance) undertakings.

Andrew is proficient in Arabic, French and Greek, and speaks and reads basic Farsi. He lives in New York with his wife and baby daughter.

Dr. Virginia Haufler

DR. VIRGINIA HAUFLER works with the Harrison Program on the Future Global Agenda, and the Center for International Development and Conflict Management at the University of Maryland. Dr. Haufler teaches courses in international relations and international political economy, with a special focus on the influence of multinational corporations. She works on the role of the private sector in global governance, the global regulation of industry, and the rise of industry self-regulation and corporate social responsibility. She is currently writing a book on corporations and conflict prevention, and launching a new project (with Deborah Avant) on the security strategies of non-state actors. Dr. Haufler spent a year on sabbatical as a Visiting Scholar with the International Studies Program at the University of California, Irvine, served as a Visiting Fellow at the Center on Public Diplomacy at the University of Southern California, and a Senior Associate at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, where she directed a project on the role of the private sector in international affairs.

Dr. Haufler was an advisor to the UN Global Compact Principles for Responsible Investment in 2009-2010, and currently serves on the Scientific Advisory Board of the Peace Research Institute Frankfurt (PRIF/ HSFK), and on the Board of Women in International Security (WIIS). Dr. Haufler received her Ph.D. in Government from Cornell University in 1991.

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Dr. Arthur Keys

DR. ARTHUR KEYS has over 30 years of experience with domestic and international humanitarian assistance, economic development, and food/agriculture programs. Dr. Keys has extensive experience partnering with major U.S. and international development agencies to provide humanitarian relief and assistance to the neediest parts of the world. Currently, Dr. Keys is the President, and CEO of IRD. Since founding IRD in 1998, Dr. Keys has overseen the distribution of more than $1.75 billion in humanitarian assistance to Asia, Africa, Latin America, Eastern Europe, the Middle East, and the United States Gulf Coast. Dr. Keys was previously the Executive Director of Interfaith Impact for Justice and Peace, the Secretary for Public Ministries of the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries, and the President of the consulting firm Keys and Associates. He is currently a member of the Board of Trustees at Bethany, awarded an honorary Doctorate in Humane Letters from Bethany, recipient of the William Sloane Coffin '56 Award for Justice and Peace given annually by Yale Divinity School, and honored with the 2009 Emory Medal for his many years of humanitarian service.

Dr. Keys is a native of Washington, DC; he has a Doctorate from Emory University, Master of Divinity from Yale University, and a Bachelors degree from Bethany College. Dr. Keys is fluent in Serbo-Croatian. He is married and has three children.

AMBASSADOR DAVID LITT has served as CSER's (Center for Stabilization and Economic Reconstruction) Executive Director since February 2008, and previously served a 34 year career as a U.S. diplomat, specializing in the Middle East and Southwest Asia. Ambassador Litt was the Political-Military Counselor, providing policy advice to the U.S. Ambassador, and serving as liaison between the Embassy and the Multi-National Forces - Iraq, and was the Associate Director for International Liaison at the George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany.

Ambassador David Litt

Previously, he served as the U.S. Ambassador to the United Arab Emirates (1995-1998) and as Consul General in Dubai, Political Advisor to U.S. Central Command and U.S. Special Operations Command at MacDill Air Force Base, Florida (1998-2004), the Director of the Office of Northern Gulf Affairs (Iran and Iraq US Department of State), a Desk Officer for Saudi Arabia, and a political officer in Damascus, Syria, the State Department's Diplomat-in-Residence at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina.

He speaks Italian, French, Arabic, and Afghan-Persian (Dari). Ambassador Litt received the Secretary of Defense Meritorious Civilian Service Award, USSOCOM's Civilian Award for Outstanding Service in 2002, and has won the State Department's Superior Honor Award several times. Ambassador Litt received a bachelor's degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a master's degree in International Relations from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS) in Washington, DC, he also attended Harvard University's Program for Senior Executives in National and International Security at the John F. Kennedy School of Government in 2000. He grew up in Miami, FL and is married to the former Beatrice Ilardi, and has two children, Barbara and Giorgio.

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Dr. Sharon Morris

DR. SHARON L. MORRIS is Director of Mercy Corps' Conflict Management Group. Previously, she worked at the State Department as Senior Advisor for Darfur to the President's Special Envoy Sudan. In 2006, she served as the Director of the Provincial Reconstruction Team Program in USAID/Afghanistan and as the Development Advisor to the Commanding General of Combined Joint Task Force-76, the headquarters for U.S. military operations in Afghanistan.

From 2002-2005, Dr. Morris was Senior Advisor in the Office of Conflict Management and Mitigation at USAID where she headed the team that was responsible for the design and implementation of conflict programs in USAID Missions. Prior to joining USAID, she worked in the Program on Global Security and Sustainability at the John D. and Catherine MacArthur Foundation. Her assignments on conflict management and post-conflict reconstruction have taken her to over 25 conflict and post-conflict countries, including Somalia, Sudan, Yemen, Iraq, Afghanistan, Pakistan, the Central Asian Republics, Haiti, Nigeria, Rwanda, Sri Lanka, and Nepal. She sits on the board of Alliance for Peacebuilding and is a member of Women in International Security. She holds a Ph.D. and Masters from the University of Chicago and is a native of Corvallis, Oregon.

Keith Reinhard

KEITH REINHARD is Chairman Emeritus of DDB Worldwide, which ranks among the world's largest and most creative advertising agency networks with 200 offices in 90 countries. As a working creative man, Keith was responsible for McDonald's "You Deserve a Break Today" and for the Big Mac tongue twister, "Two-all-beef-patties-special-sauce-lettuce-cheese-pickles-onions--on a sesame seed bun." He also penned State Farm's long running theme, "Just Like a Good Neighbor, State Farm Is There."

A member of the Advertising Hall of Fame, Advertising Age has referred to Keith Reinhard as the advertising industry's "soft-spoken visionary" and in 1999 named him one of the top 100 industry influential's in advertising history. Many of the media and compensation concepts first enunciated by Keith are now common practices in the industry.

From 2002-2010, Keith served as President of Business for Diplomatic Action, Inc.,(BDA) a not-for-profit effort he founded to enlist the U.S. business community in actions aimed at improving the standing of America in the world. During its eight years of operation, BDA created and implemented a number of programs credited with building new bridges of understanding and respect between the United States and the world. As the organization's leader, Keith testified to the U.S. Congress and was broadly featured in the media, from the BBC to The Daily Show, Fox News, CNN, CNBC, and in publications such as The Economist, Fast Company, The Atlantic, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, the International Herald Tribune and The Financial Times, among others.

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Ambassador Charles Ries

AMBASSADOR (Retired) CHARLES RIES joined the Clinton Bush Haiti Fund as Executive Vice President in July 2010. He is on a leave of absence from the RAND Corporation where he was appointed Senior Fellow in February 2009. At the Clinton Bush Haiti Fund, Ries supports the design of strategy, policy and programs. At RAND, Ries focused his research on the problems of fragile and post-conflict states, energy and environmental policy and U.S. European relations.

Prior to joining RAND, Ries was a Foreign Service Officer at the U.S. Department of State. He served from 2007 to 2008 as Coordinator for Economic Transition at U.S. Embassy in Baghdad, and was responsible for direction of civilian U.S. assistance and economic policy initiatives in Iraq. Ries was named U.S. Ambassador to Greece in 2004 and worked to encourage Greece to play a larger role in the region and in the world. As Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs (2000-04), Ambassador Ries was responsible for management of the U.S.-European Union relationship, economics, and public diplomacy. In earlier assignments, Ries served as the senior economic officer in London and at the U.S. Mission to the European Union; was a member of the NAFTA negotiating team; and worked on international energy issues. Ambassador Ries is the recipient of the State Department's "Cordell Hull" Award for Senior Economic Officers, "Rockwell Schnabel" Award for Contributions to U.S.-EU Relations, Distinguished Honor Award, and Presidential Meritorious Service Award. For his service in Iraq, he was awarded the Department of Army's Outstanding Civilian Service Medal. At RAND, he co-authored publications on "Building an Effective Haitian State" and "Improving Energy Efficiency in Buildings." Ries holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from the Johns Hopkins University.

Julia Roig

JULIA ROIG serves as the Executive Director of the Partners for Democratic Change, an international NGO dedicated to building sustainable capacity of civil society to manage change and conflict. Ms. Roig is a licensed attorney with fifteen years of diverse international management experience working and living abroad under USAID and World Bank contracts. She is an expert in Rule of Law programming, including access to justice, alternative dispute resolution, and civil society development. In the area of international conflict resolution, she has provided systems design, program management, community outreach and training, and development of impact indicators.

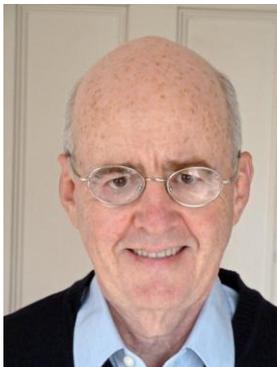

Ms. Roig has extensive experience conducting project evaluations and program design assessments in over 10 countries for donors and their implementing partners. She is a skilled mediator, facilitator and trainer with collaborative leadership and management skills. Ms. Roig is an expert at facilitating professional briefings, educational courses and roundtable discussions for community members, attorneys, judges, administrators, federal executives, and foreign ministers. Ms. Roig leads the overall development and strategic planning of Partners' global work as well as the management of Partners' day-to-day activities. She was the Chair of the International Section of the Association for Conflict Resolution and is a member of the Editorial Board of Conflict Resolution Quarterly.

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

DARRYL SCOTT is corporate vice president, contracts and pricing for The Boeing Company. Darryl joined Boeing in 2009 after serving 34 years in the U.S. Air Force, retiring as a Major General. In his last position, he served as Deputy Commander, Task Force to Support Business and Stability Operations in Iraq, Office of the Deputy Under Secretary of Defense (Business Transformation), and Deputy Director, Defense Business Transformation Agency, the Pentagon, Washington, D.C. Prior to that assignment, the general was Commander, Joint Contracting Command-Iraq/Afghanistan, and Baghdad, Iraq. General Scott reported directly to Commander, Multi-National Force-Iraq, and was responsible for planning, executing and managing mission-critical contracting efforts supporting U.S. and coalition forces, security operations, humanitarian relief and the reconstruction efforts in Iraq, Afghanistan and Pakistan. A native of Washington, D.C., General Scott entered the Air Force after graduating from the U.S. Air Force Academy in June 1974. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in Economics from the United States Air Force Academy, and a Master of Science degree in Logistics Management (Contracting and Acquisition Specialty) from the Air Force Institute of Technology.

The general is also a Distinguished Graduate of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces. Active in numerous professional associations, Scott serves on the Aerospace Industry Association Procurement and Finance Council, and on the National Contract Management Association (NCMA)'s board of advisors. He also is a member of the Air Force Association.

ARTHUR SCULLEY is Co-founder and Senior Advisor at IntraLinks, Inc. He was an international financial specialist at JP Morgan in project finance, funding developing country debt, management of central bank reserves, asset management and corporate finance in the US, Asia, Middle East and Europe

Sculley previously served in the U.S. Navy, worked for IntraLinks, Inc. New York, co-founder and chairman of CreditTrade, Ltd. London, Consultant for Governments and Corporations including Ireland, New Zealand, Bermuda, IBM, Shell Oil, JPMorgan and i2 Technologies and co-author of B2B Exchanges, ISI and Harper Collins, 1999, a business book best seller distributed at Davos 2000 and used by many business schools.

Arthur Sculley

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Francis Skrobiszewski

FRANCIS SKROBISZEWSKI has 30 years of experience spanning investment fund management, law, socio-economic development, crisis communications and public affairs, government agency reform and strategy development working in the United States, Europe, Africa, Asia and the Middle East. Skrobiszewski consulted President Bush on the Polish economy, and as a part of a three-member team prepared a review of the Environmental Protection Agency for President Regan.

Skrobiszewski also worked on a US Labor Dept strategy for the Soviet Bloc in anticipation of the collapse of the remaining Communist regimes, pioneered a successful business plan for the Polish-American Enterprise Fund (PAEF) conceived by the President and US Congress. Skrobiszewski conceived and managed HAEF's high-tech VC fund, was a senior manager of a National Investment Fund in Poland's Mass Privatization Program comprised of +500 State-owned enterprises. He serves on the Investment Committee of Poland's National Capital Fund (KFK) a $300 million fund-of-funds capitalizing new high-tech venture funds in Poland, and as a Director of Silicon Valley-base US-Polish Trade Council. He has provided consultation for Booz Allen Hamilton, legal counsel to Bank of America and the American Bar Association's International Law Section.

Skrobiszewski presented a proposal for a Palestinian Fund during the MENA Economic Summit in Casablanca, and at OECD and DIFC conferences in Dubai to discuss the application of his experiences to MENA countries. He has advised a private equity fund operating across 11 southern African countries and the MCC on structuring its regional development fund in Rep. of Georgia and the Eurasian Development Bank on its creation. Skrobiszewski serves on the Board of Directors of the Afghan-American Chamber of Commerce, and was recently called to testify at Congressional Hearings on rebuilding Haiti, and his proposal for an Enterprise Fund in Haiti was featured in Forbes and incorporated in a U.S. Senate Bill. Skrobiszewski has a J.D from University of Virginia Law School, an M.S. in Systems from Management, University of Southern California, a B.A. in Economics from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and a Course Certificate Harvard Business School Executive Education: "Structuring Effective Private Equity Partnerships".

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Dr. John D. Sullivan

DR. JOHN D. SULLIVAN is Executive Director of the Center for International Private Enterprise (CIPE), which is an affiliate of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. In 1983, he was associate director of the Democracy Program that created the National Endowment for Democracy and CIPE. Dr. Sullivan helped to start-up CIPE where he served as program director and, since 1991, as Executive Director. Previously, he had worked at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's Public Affairs Department and on the President Ford Election Committee. He spent several years working on minority enterprise development in the mid 1970s.

He has a Ph.D in international relations from the University of Pittsburgh, and is the author of a number of articles and publications on anti-corruption, corporate governance, business ethics, and market-oriented democratic development. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, a member of the Advisory Board of the Millstein Center for Corporate Governance and Performance at the Yale School of Management, and an adjunct professor at George Mason University.

Dr. Carolyn Woo

DR. CAROLYN WOO assumed the deanship of the Mendoza College of Business at the University of Notre Dame in 1997; it is currently ranked the highest undergraduate business and ethics curriculum. Formerly, Dr. Woo served as Associate Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs at Purdue University. She joined Purdue as assistant professor in 1981, became full professor in 1991 and directed the Professional Master's Programs in the Krannert School of Management from 1993 to 1995.

Dr. Woo received the International Council for Small Business Distinguished Scholar Award, Best Paper Award (Entrepreneurship Division, Academy of Management, 1991, 1992) and the Salgo-Noren Award for Outstanding Teaching in the Master's Programs. In 1997, she was inducted into the Order of the Griffin by Purdue University for service and commitment. In 1998, Change, a publication of the American Association for Higher Education, named Dr. Woo one of 40 Young Leaders of the Academy. Dr. Woo received the 2002 Excellence Award for Education from the Asian American Alliance and the 2003 John S. Day Distinguished Alumni Academic Service Award from Purdue University. She holds honorary doctorates from the University of St. Francis and Providence College.

Dr. Woo Chair's the AACSB International, and is a member of the boards of AON Corporation and NiSource Incorporated, and four other publicly traded company boards. She co-convened the United Nations Global Compact initiative Principles for Responsible Management (PRME). Dr. Woo concluded six years of service on the board of Catholic Relief Services and currently serves on the boards of Catholic Charities USA, University of Notre Dame Australia and the University of Portland. Dr. Woo is married to David E. Bartkus and they have two sons, Ryan and Justin.

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Dr. Raymond Gilpin
MODERATOR

DR. RAYMOND GILPIN directs the USIP's Sustainable Economies Center of Innovation. He leads the Institute's work on analyzing relationships among economic actors during all stages of conflict (including prevention, mediation, resolution and post-conflict). In doing so, he collates sound practices from practitioners and experts, and designs appropriate capacity-building and tools for conflict environments. He teaches the Economics and Conflict course at the USIP Academy and manages the Web-based International Network for Economics and Conflict.

Before joining the USIP, he served as: academic chair for defense economics at the Africa Center for Strategic Studies at the National Defense University; director for International Programs at Intellibridge Corporation (now part of Eurasia Group); senior economist at the African Development Bank Group; research director at the Central Bank of Sierra Leone and an economist at the World Bank. He holds a doctorate from Cambridge University in Economics and an Executive Certificate in international finance and capital markets from Georgetown University.

Dr. John Forrer
MODERATOR

Dr. JOHN FORRER is Associate Research Professor of Strategic Management and Public Policy, School of Business; Associate Director of the GW Institute of Corporate Responsibility (ICR); and, Associate Faculty, Trachtenberg School of Public Policy and Public Administration at The George Washington University. Dr. Forrer Co-Founded the Global Studies Network, a worldwide university consortium of 60 globalization research centers, and was Director of the GW Center for the Study of Globalization for 10 years.

His research examines issues at the crossroads of business, globalization, and policy. Research topics include: business and peace; public-private partnerships; integrated governance networks; sustainable global commodities; and, economic sanctions. In 2010, Dr. Forrer was awarded a research grant to examine how businesses participate successfully in integrated governance networks. His most recent publications are, "Locating PTC through Good Global Governance." (Journal of Business Ethics, Jan 2010); and, "Public-Private Partnerships and the Accountability Question" with Kee, Newcomer and Boyer, (Public Administration Review, May/June 2010).

He received his B.A. from Miami University, MPA from Syracuse University, and Ph.D. in Public Administration from The George Washington University. He lives in Alexandria, VA with his wife Sharon and two children Adam and Lauren.

Business and Peace Task Force Biographies

Dr. Timothy Fort
MODERATOR

DR. TIMOTHY L. FORT is the Executive Director of the Institute for Corporate Responsibility. He is the author Business, Integrity, and Peace (Cambridge University Press, 2007), which won the Best Book Award at the 2010 Academy of Management Conference. He also authored Prophets, Profits, and Peace (Yale University Press, 2008). He is co-author of The Role of Business in Fostering Peaceful Societies published by Cambridge University Press in 2004. Oxford University Press published his book, Ethics and Governance: Business as Mediating Institution, in 2001. His more than sixty articles and book chapters have appeared in a wide array of top journals in the field.

In 2003, Dr. Fort was given a World-wide Award for Academic Leadership by the Beyond Grey Pinstripes report sponsored by the Aspen Institute. He held the Bank One Corporation Assistant Professor of Business Administration at the University of Michigan, where he taught from 1994-2005. In 1998, he was named the Outstanding Junior Faculty Member of the Academy of Legal Studies in Business ("ALSB"). He has also been awarded student-based Faculty Teaching Awards from George Washington University's Executive MBA Program and from Loyola University Chicago. On a research basis, the ALSB has awarded him, individually or with co-authors, three Outstanding National Conference Proceeding Paper Awards, six Distinguished National Conference Proceeding Paper Awards, two Ralph Bunche Awards for best International Paper, a Holmes-Cardozo Award for best overall conference paper, and a Ralph Hoeber Award for Research Excellence.

On a lighter note, he is under contract with Houghton-Mifflin to write, The Afterlife of Dogs, tentatively scheduled for release in Fall 2011. Dr. Fort holds Lindner-Gambal Professorship of Business Ethics at George Washington University Business School. He holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Notre Dame and his J.D. and Ph.D. from Northwestern University. He and his wife Nancy live in Silver Spring, Maryland with her father, their three children (adopted from China and from Ethiopia as well as one of their own doing), and a Basset Hound. He co-owns a working family farm in Illinois with his siblings that traces its family ownership, in part, back to the 1800s.