

Making Peace Possible

About USIP

The United States Institute of Peace is a national, nonpartisan, independent institute, founded by Congress and dedicated to the proposition that a world without violent conflict is possible, practical, and essential for U.S. and global security. In conflict zones abroad, the Institute works with local partners to prevent, mitigate, and resolve violent conflict. To reduce future crises and the need for costly interventions, USIP works with governments and civil societies to help their countries solve their own problems peacefully. The Institute provides expertise, training, analysis, and support to those who are working to build a more peaceful, inclusive world.

USIP BRINGS TOGETHER EXPERTS AND PRACTITIONERS TO:

- ▶ Identify the best ways to counter violent extremism and promote religious tolerance.
- ▶ Develop practical tools to improve the rule of law in chaotic environments after violent conflict.
- ▶ Rigorously test approaches to conflict prevention and peacebuilding to ensure the United States is using the most constructive and cost-effective tools to protect U.S. interests.
- ▶ Use traditional media, social networking, and emerging technologies to track, prevent, and resolve violent conflict.

USIP WORKS TO ADVANCE PEACE AND U.S. NATIONAL SECURITY INTERESTS:

- ▶ In Iraq, USIP and its partners facilitated local peace agreements at Mahmoudiya (2007), Tikrit (2015) and Hawija (2017) that halted or prevented communal warfare, let displaced families return home, and reduced the need for U.S. or other military intervention. USIP is helping Iraq stabilize localities brutalized by ISIS.
- ▶ In Afghanistan, USIP supports grassroots movements to oppose corruption, counter extremism, and promote peaceful elections. The Institute is helping Afghan universities develop their first courses in conflict resolution. In Pakistan, USIP supports a program that has de-radicalized Taliban fighters and returned them to peaceful community life.
- ▶ In Colombia, USIP expanded the role of women and minorities in the negotiations that ended 50 years of civil war in 2016. The Institute trains and supports local organizations to build peaceful solutions for the inevitable conflicts that arise with implementation.
- ▶ In Nigeria, USIP convenes the country's influential state governors with eminent civic and religious leaders to develop a pragmatic strategy for reducing the root causes of radicalization and the Boko Haram insurgency.
- ▶ Across Africa and the Middle East, USIP's Generation Change program builds the skills of emerging youth leaders working for peace in communities across a dozen countries.
- ▶ In Washington and abroad, USIP researches policy options for the U.S. government to avert or end violence. Recent research includes the rising role of China and risks from North Korea.

Founded in 1984, USIP is funded by Congress and governed by 15-member, bipartisan Board of Directors. The Institute's teams work in many of the world's most volatile regions. In 2011, USIP moved to our permanent home on the northwest corner of the National mall.
