

Men, Peace & Security: Agents of Change

U.S. Institute of Peace, Washington, D.C.

DRAFTAGENDA

This symposium aims to better understand how the ascribed norms of men and masculine identities contribute to, and may even help mitigate violent conflict and post-conflict. It builds upon and complements the work of the Women, Peace, and Security agenda, especially as seen through the UN Security Council Resolution 1325. It applies the lens of gender to the broader issues surrounding peace and security.
